

Former Kendrick Student, Director of Principle Consulting

JANE COX

is our guest speaker at the

A-Level Presentation Evening 17 December 2018.

BACKGROUND...

Jane left Kendrick in 1999 after completing A-levels in Maths, English and History. She went on to study History at the University of Sheffield. After completing her degree, Jane was elected to the role of Welfare Officer at Sheffield's Student Union for a year; giving her the opportunity to lead campaigns on the issues of student fees and affordable accommodation.

Jane went on to work in Parliament as a researcher and for the last 10 years has helped many charities to effectively get their messages across to parliamentarians and the Government.

ABOUT JANE...

Jane is a director of Principle Consulting, a social enterprise that supports charities to campaign for government policy changes that will help their beneficiaries.

VOLUNTEERING...

Jane is passionate about volunteering and has volunteered as an English teaching assistant in schools in Tanzania and Kenya. She now helps one morning a week in her children's school in Maidenhead.

Jane is also a media volunteer for Alzheimer's Research UK, speaking about her mother's experiences of early onset Alzheimer's to raise awareness about the condition.

JANE'S WORK HAS HELPED...

To name a few!
