The Berkshire Book Awards 2020 WINNER!

In this moving story two teens fall in love with just one minor complication —they can't get within five feet of each other without risking their lives. Can you love someone you can never touch?

What are you reading?

I am sure many of you will have picked up a book over the past few weeks.... Let us know what you are reading & whether or not you would recommend it to others.

Amelia in Year 9 has been reading Fallen by Lauren Kate. Amelia says, 'I started this book after it was recommended as 'Book of the Week' a while back. It's an interesting insight into life in a juvenile correction centre of a girl who, at first doesn't know what she's done wrong to arrive there but it slowly reveals itself. It's a nice, easy read.'

What kind of a reader are you?

What Kind of Reader Are You?

Polygamist reader

books, in result hardly ever finishes the book

booklikes

I am definitely an Altruist Reader, but I also like to read one book at a time.

MRS CAVACIUTI

*I think I am a bit of all types, but on the whole
I am a Polygamist Reader.*

In other news....

Koyenum from Year 7 has recommended an online library called Libby. Koyenum says, 'I've been enjoying this online library app by Overdrive called Libby. You can borrow a free eBook or audiobook for up to 21 days, though you have to have a library card to sign up. However, you can get a temporary library card online until the end of lockdown to use which is really useful for everyone who's run out of books at home to read- like me! It has a really wide variety of books as well, including some classics.'

Thank you Koyenum!

Please e-mail us back with your Bookish Banter and we'll send out another Corona-Library News next Friday...and the answers to the Jane Austen Quiz!
